Certain holidays may postpone the settlement date for transactions in next-day settlement funds. The Federal Reserve System and/or the New York Stock Exchange may elect to close early on the day prior to or following a holiday and may also schedule emergency closings. In these instances, the funds may close prior to their published purchase or redemption times. Fidelity reserves the right to modify or withdraw the exchange privilege. The portfolios reserve the right to advance the time by which purchase or redemption orders must be received on any day that the principal bond markets close early, such as on days in advance of holidays generally observed by participants in such markets.

You could lose money by investing in a money market fund. An investment in a money market fund is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. Before investing, always read a money market fund's prospectus for policies specific to that fund.
